Cuyama Orchards is nestled in the uppermost reaches of the Cuyama Valley in a rugged mountainous corner of Santa Barbara and Ventura Counties in California. The orchards are surrounded by towering peaks and National Forest land. At 3300 feet in elevation, Cuyama Orchards enjoys the ideal microclimate for growing sweet, crunchy, juicy apples that are bursting with flavor.

Gala Apples are a “summer apple” that ripens ahead of, just about, all other varieties. Cuyama Gala are sweet, crisp, and fragrant. Great for a snack.

Cuyama Granny Smith Apples are sweeter and yet fully tart at the same time. As we do with all our apples, we grow our Grannys for flavor. Cuyama Granny may have a light dusting of gold, or a little red blush, but these are marks of quality. Green apples need light too, and we prune our Granny Smith to be open and bright and to produce flavorful fruit under optimal conditions.

The Nagafu Fuji Apples are the original Fuji apple from Japan prized for its firm delicious creamy-yellow flesh, its sweet full flavor, and its delicate thin skin. Cuyama Nagafu Fuji are the pride of Cuyama Orchards, and we continue to grow this nearly lost Fuji heirloom which we consider to be the best Fuji scion of all.
