This chariot, in fact, was the vehicle that first brought her to Athens, where she had done nothing but mischief ever since her arrival. But these and many other wonders must be left untold; and it is enough to say, that Medea, amongst a thousand other bad things, knew how to prepare a poison, that was instantly fatal to whomsoever might so much as touch it with his lips.

She was ____.

literate

- If you race through these questions, the test will KNOW!
- Ask for help if you don't understand the directions to the test.

The Reading Inventory* is an inference-based test. This means:

1. You must read all the answers and the entire passage before clicking on an answer.
2. The answer cannot be found directly in the passage—you must use the clues in the passage to determine an answer.
3. You will most likely need to reread the passage to determine the correct answer before clicking on “NEXT.”

Now, take The Reading Inventory Test!

Start the day off right. Pick out your clothes the night before. Pack your lunch, too. When you wake up, you will be ready to go. You will not be late.

In the morning, you will save ____.

room

When taking The Reading Inventory....

- Try your best!
- Don't rush! Take a mental break if needed!
- Adjust your font size if you need to zoom.
- Use your skips if you are unsure! (You have three of them and skipping does NOT affect your score.)

Your Score:

- Your score is reported as a Lexile number.
- It will pop up at the end of your test.
- Your Lexile score indicates a range of appropriate reading materials that are just right for you--100 points below and 50 points above your Lexile score.

For example, if your Lexile score is 400, your range would be 300-450.

Testing Environment

If you have any trouble logging in to the program, your teacher will help you. Do not ask a friend or neighbor. Once your classmate starts, it could interrupt their thinking.

Testing Environment

- Your teacher will be walking around monitoring the class to answer any questions you may have.
- Whisper voices will be used so others are not interrupted.
- Your teacher will not be able to help you answer a question, but they can clarify directions for you.

Testing Environment

- A quiet testing environment is VERY important! When you are finished, do not move around, play computer games, or talk. You must quietly read your book when you finish the test.
- You only take The Reading Inventory 1-2 times a year. Take it very seriously so your results show your true abilities.
